Much regret was expressed at the resignation of President Gassaway, which action on his part was due to ill-health and recent family affliction.

Another one of those disgraceful disturb-

The Blue and Gray to Meet the Crimson on the Ball Field. The appearance of the Harvard base ball team here tomorrow will no doubt draw a large crowd to the ball grounds at the head of 7th street, where they will meet the team from Georgetown College. The contest should be a good one, and though Harvard will probably win, the crimson will have to work to do so Harvard has a very strong team this year, the pitchers being particularly effective. In the nine are several of the men who made themselves well known in the college world by their play on the foot ball team last fall. The team played their efirst practice game on the 1st of April by defeating Andover. On Monday Matthews was beaten by a score of 11 to 1. The mine left Cambridge for their southern tour on Tuesday. Yesterday afternoon they played Lehigh at Bethlehem, winning the game by 14 to 2. This afternoon they meet the University of Pennsylvania, and, as Yale has played this team two games, losing one and winning the other, a comparative judgment of the strength of the crimson and the blue can be made. The men who are with the Harvard nine are J. A. Highlands, A. A. Highlands and J. Wiggins, pitchers; J. Corbett and E. E. Clark, catchers: A. Dickinson, first base; L. A. Froth-
